Scott Young is the owner and chief repair technician of Top Brass Repair. He has been repairing brass band and orchestral instruments for over 10 years in the Knoxville area. Schools from beginning band to University seek out his expertise and quality service for their reliable repairs. Individual brass owners from professionals to local community players depend on Scott to deliver timely repairs just in time for the gig.

Scott is a graduate of The University of Tennessee and was a member of the Pride of The Southland Band playing trumpet. He currently resides in Powell,

TN with his wife and two children.
